The North Orange County Regional Consortium for Adult Education (NOCRC) is a regional education consortium tasked with helping to expand and improve adult education in North Orange County. Established in 2014 as a result of California legislation AB86, NOCRC is comprised of community colleges, K-12 school districts, county offices of education, and other community partners.

Speaking to Success...

English as a Second Language (ESL) and Citizenship Programs

ESL is only the beginning...

Language is the foundation of learning itself, and the first step toward building a future. Through our classes, students are empowered to communicate in English at work, in school, and in the community.

Success in the workplace or higher education depends on clear and efficient communication, and NOCRC is committed through its ESL Programs to opening doors for first-generation and non-native students.

Why ESL Matters...

Better Opportunities—Raise the ceiling on your career and education!

Increased Confidence—Enter your career or higher education program with more confidence and self-assurance.

High-Tech Skills—Build work-related computer skills while learning the language of technology.

Increased Connections—Open doors to new possibilities, not just in your career, but in your life.

Personal Pride—Whatever your next step may be, take it with dignity and confidence!

NOCRC Supports You!

NOCRC has built—and continues to build—a network of support programs for ESL learners:

- » Community-Based ESL Classes: Connects students to outcome-focused academic support and community resources.
- » Counseling: Create an education plan and learn about student support services
- » Academic Success Program: Bridges the gap for students who want to go to college or improve their job skills.
- » ESL Learning Centers: Get help connecting to distance learning; extra practice with English.

ESL learners attend tuition-free, in part through the California Adult Education Program!

ESL at NOCE

If the only barrier between you and a rewarding, future-focused career is a language barrier, NOCE can help!

North Orange Continuing Education (NOCE) is proud to offer tuition-free ESL classes to adults looking to boost their confidence, skills, and career prospects. Classes are held during day and evening hours online through Distance Education or at NOCE centers in Anaheim, Cypress and Fullerton, including dozens of locations at churches, elementary schools and community centers near you.

Finding Your Level...

NOCE's ESL Program offers six levels of instruction, with placement determined by an assessment test. Students who complete the sixth level or pass the citizenship test are honored at NOCE's annual Student Success Event.
